EXPERT SUMS UP FORMIDABLE LIST OF EYE DEFECTS

Many a driver who sees clearly so far as he is aware, and who pays attention to the road still finds detecting a car hazardous business. So Dr. Alvah R. Lauer, of Iowa State college, says about the physical shortcomings of apparently normal people.

Clarity of vision is merely one of the qualities of normal eyesight. A secondary quality is width of the field of vision. Normally, a person looking straight ahead detects the presence of a car when it pulls up beside him, but some do not become aware of it until it moves ahead. Extreme sufferers from narrow vision are said to possess tunnel vision, but many persons have less than the normal field of 185 to 195 degrees and do not suspect the fact.

Depth of vision also is necessary to safe driving. This means that the man behind the wheel must not only be able to see a car in the road but must be aware of whether it is traveling with him, standing still, or coming toward him, and approximately how fast. Depth perception is linked with another point, eye dominance. Many people who get headaches when they are tired do so because they are seeing out of only one eye, as set paying enough they must pay more. It is to be hoped that increased payment will provide good pay for railroad workers, conductors, engineers, trainmen, track walkers, all others.

Color blindness is a common and widely recognized fault. Another thing needed for safe driving is strength in the hands for emergency use; there must also be the ability to judge speed of movement, and the right amount of awareness to sudden noises. All these and many other abilities are part of every person's makeup in varying degrees. We recognize them by saying a driver is alert, or capable, observant, quick, cool, but seldom think to discover which particular combinations of perception and nervous control produce these desirable qualities. It goes without saying, however, that a driver who recognizes his deficiencies can take steps to compensate for them.—Detroit Free Press.

Feed Everybody? Big Job Reads Ask $170,000,000 Can't Shoot Santa Claus Steel Coffin for Wong

It is announced that the government will feed, at public expense, men that go on strike while the strike lasts. The American Federation of Labor representative in the South says the 500,000 textile workers about to go on strike will look to the government to take care of them while the strike lasts.

According to the Associated Press, Harry L. Hopkins, government relief administrator, says: "It is a surprising thing to me we haven't had a good deal of sight more strikes than we have." We shall probably have strikes in sufficient number if the government supports all strikers, and, if it should decide to pay them out of public moneys the wages they are asking while the strike lasts, there might be a great many strikes.

Railroads ask for an increase of $75,000,000 in freight rates to offset increased expenses which "reflect economic policies of the government." Railroads must run, and if the people get paying enough they must pay more. It is to be hoped that increased payment will provide good pay for railroad workers, conductors, engineers, trainmen, track walkers, all others.

There is nowhere in the world a better body of men, more reliable, dignified, obliging, safe, sober and useful, than American railroad workers.

The "American Liberty league," organized to protect the beautiful old American dollar and "vested interests" from the "New Deal," expects former Governor Al Smith to help.

Mr. John W. Davis, who also ran for President on the Democratic ticket, is said to be with the league "heart and soul."

Former Governor Smith's friends think he may be "too busy."

The probability of beating President Roosevelt's party this fall was expressed well by a former Democratic cabinet member who is not a Roosevelt man:

"You can't shoot Santa Claus, you know, especially around Christmas."

This administration is, for tens of millions of Americans and hundreds of American cities, the greatest "Santa Claus" in all history.

Edmund Wong On Wah, Chinese air pilot, dreamed that he crashed after a collision and told his American wife that when he did die he wanted an iron coffin.

Wong On Wah was selected with fellow Chinese flyer, Fong Shek, to maneuver above the steamship Bremen, bringing in Gen. Chang Fahway. The planes collided, Wong was killed and his desire to fly and fight for the Chinese army thwarted. He will be buried here in a $750 steel coffin. General Chang, whom Wong never saw, gave the order.

Why do you suppose Wong wanted an iron coffin? It could not keep the soil in or keep the worms out, presumably. Many prosperous Americans are buried in coffins of bronze.

Not long ago Mussolini and Hitler met with all signs of amity eternal at Venice. Hands were clasped, vows of friendship and co-operation exchanged. Mussolini was to visit Hitler at his country estate as soon as possible, and the world said, "How lovely to see dictator brethren dwelling together in amity!"

And now the Mussolini visit to Hitler is postponed indefinitely. Mussolini did not like the Dollfuss assassination, and seems to hold Hitler's Nazi friends responsible.

Europe discusses the expulsion of Mrs. Sinclair Lewis from Germany as a forerunner of rigid press control. All copies of the London Times in German were recently seized and it is expected that foreign correspondents will be asked to leave if they write anything displeasing to Hitler. Engines would not last long without a safety valve, and liberty does not last long without free expression of opinion.

Modern dictators need to encroach several hairs' breadth on established liberties, and all agree with Napoleon, who said his power would last but a few weeks if he permitted freedom of the press.

Germany, preparing for a hard winter and with scarcity, is endeavoring, through Propaganda Minister Goebbels, "to establish hunger as a virtue" and arouse the people's enthusiasm concerning the duty of "doing without."

In this country also we expect a hard winter, but instead of a glorifying of hunger and the "noble patriotism of going without," our government says: "Nobody shall be hungry." The American plan will be the more popular.

Lord Edward Montagu, second son of the Duke of Manchester, thought he would join the French Foreign Legion, changed his mind, started a "hot dog" stand on the edge of the Thames, at Maidenhead, and is well satisfied.

He sells coffee, soft drinks and sandwiches with his hot dogs, and he made four pounds in 24 hours and finds hot dogs more comfortable and profitable than the Foreign Legion.

They're Not "Fair Weather" Friends, Either

After "watching the clouds roll by" for fifty years, Dr. Charles F. Marvin, seventy-six, has completed his term of service with the United States weather bureau and gone into retirement. At the farewell party given in his honor by his fellow office workers, he is shown congratulating Miss Annie Relle, most recent member to join the bureau.

Largest Synagogue

Undoubtedly the largest synagogue in history was the Basilica of Alexandria, Egypt, which was destroyed after the Jews made their great exodus under Moses. This edifice was so huge that it held several hundred thousand persons at a time and each trade guild had its own section. The responses of the congregation had to be directed by a flag signal.—Dorothea Myer, Clinton, Okla., in Collier's Weekly.

Leave Hole in Graves

Indian graves in the Canadian woods are built in the form of mounds and covered with a low, tentlike structure of bark, with an opening in front, in order that (the Indians believe) the spirit of the departed may get out.

SHOWS HIS SOUVENIRS

Midshipman Edwin Denby got home to Annapolis, with 800 or so of his buddies, from a summer cruise in European waters, and he is seen here showing his mother, Mrs. Edwin Denby, some of the souvenirs he picked up on the trip. Middy Denby's father was once secretary of the navy.

Stone-crushing with water is made possible by a system of high-pressure pumps designed by a Russian engineer, who intends adapting his invention for ice-breakers to carve a path through the ice by bombarding it with jets of water shot out at enormous speed and force.

Young Wife (looking in the window of a jeweler's)—George I'd love that bracelet.

The Husband—I can't afford to buy it for you, dear.

"But if you could, you would, wouldn't you?"

"I'm afraid not."

"Why?"

"It isn't good enough, dear."

"Oh, you darling."

Overstudy

"A man must be a student all his days to hold a position like yours," remarked the admiring constituent.

"That is very true," answered Senator Sorghum, "and, like a student, I get so weary of hard lessons that I am going to organize a movement to include a sports page in the Congressional Record." — Washington Star.

Immune to 'Em Now

"Your daughter is very modern isn't she?" remarked the visitor.

"Yes," sighed the mother; "I have reached the point now where I doubt if I could even be shocked by a live wire, no matter what the voltage was."

Dining to Discord

"Society," said Miss Cayenne, "reminds me of a minstrel show."

"Where they say 'Gentlemen, be seated'?"

"Yes. Only they say, 'Ladies, be seated.' And then the 'music' starts!"

His Idea

Too Much to Expect

Why Not?

Wife—I can't afford an operation now.

Here's the latest in feminine chic for morning or afternoon wear. Ruffles to accent the smart line of the yoke are irresistibly flattering, and the sleeves have puffed-up charm. A white yoke to top a sprightly silk or cotton print would be ever so lovely. The cost of pattern and fabric is so nominal that you could make this frock without imposing on your budget. A perfect model, too, for the beginner because of its utter simplicity —the front and back are without waistline seams and the yoke is just

Prof. Albert Einstein gave recently what he considered the best formula for success in life. I should say the formula is a equals x plus y plus z, x being work and y being play."

"And what is z?" inquired the interviewer.

"That," he answered, "is keeping your mouth shut."
